Letter of Recommendation for Emil Olofsson

As the lead programmer of Silkroad Studios, It's my pleasure to offer my strong recommendation for Emil Olofsson

Emil has been greatly appreciated in our studio during his internship with our company, and has worked on a wide variety of programming tasks for us, from performance optimizations and various system improvements to character movement systems and camera systems to helping a client of ours set up their development environment. Oftentimes even working on multiple of these categories of task at the same time

Despite constantly getting new tasks to work on, Emil's also been very good at improving his existing work over time in multiple ways. For one, he's made great use of profiling tools to identify and fix performance issues and to debug and fix system issues. And perhaps even more importantly, he's been very good at taking feedback on his work - particularly in regards to the movement and camera systems he worked on, where he's been able to significantly improve the end-user experience based on our creative director's feedback

I've also seen Emil gain a lot more confidence with work tasks outside his comfort zone during the internship. At the start of the internship, he came off more unsure about his ability to do certain work tasks we proposed for him, and just a few short months later, he's accepting those very same kinds of work tasks with just five words: "yeah, I can do that" - which has been a fantastic development to see

In summary, Emil has been a great asset to our team, and so we greatly recommend him for any programming position you have
